

Christ or Satan, Satan or Christ

November 7, 2024

My beloved children,

Ah! if you knew how much I love you. I love you without there being any limit to this love because God loves without limit. He gives all that He has, all that He is, everything that He thinks is good for you but you, so limited, so small, so absent sometimes, you receive only a tiny part of it. Every time you turn to Me, I pour out My graces on you but you are so often absent, thinking of your immediate occupations and so often prayer is the only time you give Me.

Let it not be so among you, My dear ones. Think of Me at any time of the day, and at night when you wake up, think of Me, weave your rosary, your prayers of the night cover so many sins!

I want to tell you that I love you and because of this love, I want to make a confidence: My Love for you makes me grant you graces and the investiture of the new president of the United States is one of them. Pray, My children, that it will not be eliminated as we have already tried to do several times. He is not perfect, no creature is, but he has decided to fight against the demonic forces in his country and he has chosen experienced collaborators. Pray for him and his team because I wanted him to be elected and he was. I have not opposed the negative forces because man is free, men are free but when one of My children wants to work for Me, I support him. My enemies are very unhappy with this victory and they shout their disappointment. Do not listen to them, pray that humanity will find its God because there are so many parts of the world that do not know or want to know Me. I call all men to Me and it is necessary to pray much for the conversion of sinners.

Today is a day of confidences and I still want to entrust you with this: the world is near rupture, the powers at war are resilient, which means that they will not bend or God wants peace, the peace of souls and the bodies; but the man often taken by resentment, pride and vengeance does not give in easily. Pray, My children, pray with all your heart, with all your soul because the peoples are no longer guided by God but by ambition and voracity, and they are the plaything of their rulers.

The Europe that was once Christian is no longer so and its leaders, except a few, do not seek the good of their administrated but their own. Pray for your leaders, pray for their conversion, pray that the name of God will no longer be banned from public life, pray that so-called Christian peoples will return to Mass on Sunday and that pastors too will find true faith.

The Catholic faith has spread throughout the world, north, south, east and west of the globe, but it has been corrupted in many parts of the world. The Catholic faith has become Protestant and few places have preserved the purity of doctrine, the purity of faith, the purity of worship. Pray, My children, ask forgiveness of God for these so many abandons, for these defections so dangerous for the salvation of souls.

So many souls today go to hell because they have not been faithful or because they have discredited My teaching. Not wanting to follow Me, disobeying Me, is refusing Me or the refusal of the Truth, of God, leads inevitably where no one would want to go.

The devil is real, Satan is real, Lucifer is real, just as I am, My Angels are and you are. Adam and Eve fell into sin, they regretted it all their life, the awareness of their fault was such that they were great penitents but it was not possible for them to go back in time. That is why I came, incarnated, suffered and offered my divine life to repair what men could not repair because the infinite offense made to God could be repaired only by Him alone.

And you, My children, are the descendants of Adam and Eve, sinners but redeemed by the divine Redeemer and you now have a choice: Christ or Satan, Satan or Christ.

Pray and choose, these paths are so different and yet there are so many who choose the wrong path. I remind you of the virtues necessary to walk on the right path: prudence, justice, strength, temperance and then, from these major virtues:

humility, obedience, gratitude, patience, gentleness, penance and chastity. On the wrong path you will find those who commit voluntary homicide, unnatural impurity, oppression of the poor and the needy, exploitation of the weakest; and then all those who are invaded by pride, greed, envy, anger, Impurity, greed and laziness.

How different these paths are! On the way to Heaven, you will find calm people, decided, smiling and generous, on the other way, turning their backs, you will find disputes, hatreds, wounded, injured.

I want you all on the beautiful path to Heaven, it is sometimes difficult, rocky, visibility is not always as illuminated by the sun but the neighboring walkers will help you climb it and you too, you will help the walkers by your side in the more difficult passages.

Pray, do penance, be faithful to your state duty, I am with you and you will find Me at the end of the road, reaching out to you, happy, wonderfully happy to welcome you in the Abode of Heaven.

God bless you, and I bless you in the Name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. So be it.

Your Lord and God
